

Surprising Facts about the INTERNET:

1. A single Google query uses 1,000 computers in 0.2 seconds to retrieve an answer.
2. 16% to 20% of the searches Google gets each day have never been Googled before.
3. 500 million tweets are sent ever day.
4. "Gangnam Style" by Psy is still the most viewed YouTube video of all time. It's been viewed over two billion times.
5. The first email was sent in 1971 by Ray Tomlinson to himself. He doesn't remember what it said.
6. The world record for the fastest time to log into a Gmail account is 1.16 seconds.
7. We now spend more time browsing the web on mobile devices than desktop computers.
8. China has treatment camps for Internet addicts.
9. 30,000 web sites are hacked every day.
10. Internet Users Send 204 Million Emails Per Minute.

विद्वानसर्वत्र पूज्यते

A Knowledgeable Person is Worshipped Everywhere

Nandi Vani Public School : City's First Smart School Inaugurated

Bharwari: On 29th March, Sunday, Nandi Vani Public School, Bharwari's first smart school was inaugurated by State's ex-minister and prominent leader Mr. Nand Gopal Gupta and City's Mayor Smt. Abhilasha Gupta 'Nandi' near Bharwari. The school is first of its kind and taking into account the need of IT knowledge the classrooms will be powered with smart education system for a better education experience. The school will follow the CBSE curriculum and international education standards. Shri Nandi said, "Rapid urbanization and widespread of IT calls for such kind of educational infrastructure. The children are future of our economy and we need to make them technologically sound and efficient by integrating academic curriculum with computers and internet." He further added, "I am hopeful that NVPS will set new standards and the students would bring fame to city and the nation."

The school is equipped with spacious classrooms, fully equipped computer lab, rich library, science labs, physical training equipment and musical instruments. The classrooms are integrated with computer and powerpoint study material to make the learning more effective and applicable to the real life. School Principal Shri, Rajesh Mishra said, "The motto of school is 'Vidwaan Sarvatra Pujyate' which means a well educated and learned person is valued and respected everywhere in the world and in NVPS through our well trained staff, disciplined environment and structured curriculum we are committed to build an entire generation of learned and well educated citizen." Keeping in mind the need for all round development and competitive spirit, the school has added a range of co-curricular activities viz. sports, music, debate, elocution, art and craft and many other activities.

Mr. Vishal Gulati, Vice Chairman said, "The coordination among management, student, mentors and the parents is essence of our system. We value feedback and suggestions and we are open to accept and act upon the feedback. We wish to improve and upgrade everyday and the word from parents and the students is important to achieve perfection."

Mr. Gaurav Agrawal, Chairamn said, " Our vision is to work in partnership with our pupils, parents, and the community at large to create a positive and inclusive environment for high quality learning and teaching where everyone is valued and respected"

The school has announced the beginning of the admission process for 2015-16 academic session. For admission details school's website : <http://www.nvpschool.com/> can be visited, where online application form for admission is available.

April 2015 / Vol 12

Panacea People
"Intelligent Thinking. Responsible Execution"

Panacea People : Education, Training, HR Solutions, Media & Real Estate.

HR NEWS Letter

Panacea people has entered its teenage by completing 13 years of successful operations.

In this issue

The Draconian Act : The Revolutionary Step : Sec 66A of IT act

Surprising Facts about the INTERNET

Nandi Vani Public School : City's First Smart School Inaugurated.

The Draconian Act : The Revolutionary Step : Sec 66A of IT act

Not every opinion, given by any ordinary citizen poses threat to public. On social networking sites, blogs and micro blogs we share what we feel. What we share may or may not be correct, accurate and omni-pleasant. Sec 66A of the IT act-2000 defines punishment for sending "offensive" messages through any channel of e-communication. A conviction may fetch a term of 3-years in jail and/or a fine. In 2012 there was a PIL filed by a law student Shreya Singhal seeking amendment in the act as the term "offensive" is vague, subjective and the interpretation is varied and contingent to one's way of understanding.

Following the demise of Shiv Sena leader Bal Thackeray in 2012 when a girl posted on facebook and the other liked the post, both were arrested. The arrest was legal but the law through which the arrest was made was more of a draconian and tyrannical taste. Following the incident many petitions were filed and then the act was put under the scanner. Now there is a major breakthrough of thought processes that must be seen.

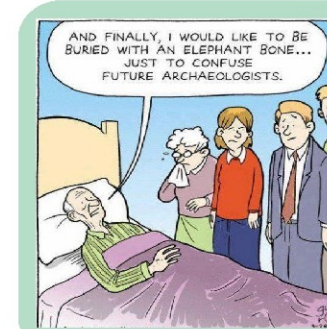

1. Internet and e-communications need to be viewed and understood in the right spirit. We have seen the world transforming from pre-internet to internet era. What we learnt and observed in the pre internet times of print media may not be applicable to the internet era. We have to understand that whatever is written may not be of public good or bad.

Since, the most commonly used way of expression on the internet is writing, we need to digest the fact that the source of information has to be checked before the information itself. A random teenager posting some "offensive" remark against the government has to be ignored and if possible educated for what is right. Arrest and litigation for Internet posts doesn't make sense and there will be infinite cases queued up.

2. Striking down the act, the Supreme Court held, "The information disseminated over the Internet need not be information which 'incites' anybody at all. Written words may be sent that may be purely in the realm of 'discussion' or 'advocacy' of a 'particular point of view'. Further, the mere causing of annoyance, inconvenience, danger, etc., or being grossly offensive or having a menacing character are not offences under the [Indian] Penal Code at all." The court further said, "Every expression used is nebulous in meaning. What may be offensive to one may not be offensive to another. What may cause annoyance or inconvenience to one may not cause annoyance or inconvenience to another."

We have a right to express and a right to be heard, but we do not hold the right to hurt and the right to offend. As a responsible communicator we must be ethical in terms of disseminating any information over any media. Words are mightier than sword.

In the words of Frank Murphy, "Freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of religion all have a double aspect - freedom of thought and freedom of action."

Education is learning what you didn't even know you didn't know.

Daniel J. Boorstin

BrainyQuote

Star of the MONTH

Ruchika Puri

Panacea People

www.panaceapeople.com

Panacea People
"Intelligent Thinking. Responsible Execution"

Corporate Office: A-88, L-1, Ground Floor, sector 4. Noida-201301, Board line : 0120-4731070.

Reg Office: 43/33 S.P Marg, Civil Lines, Allahabad-211001, Board line : 0532 -3293666.

www.careerlauncherallahabad.blogspot.in, www.facebook.com/panaceapeople

www.panaceapeople.com

For any feedback & Suggestion E-mail us at ruchika.puri@panaceapeople.com